On September 23, 2001, Professor Stanislaw Blejwas, President of our Polish American Historical Association, suffered a fatal heart attack at his home in New Britain, Connecticut. He was only sixty years old.

Our Association’s officers and members have been shocked and deeply saddened by this news. We express our sincerest and most heartfelt sympathies and prayers to his bereaved family. Stan will be greatly missed.

According to the PAHA constitution and by-laws, the first vice-president of our Association is responsible for taking over the duties of president in the event of death or resignation. I accept this responsibility, but I do so with a heavy heart.

I knew Stan as a respected friend and colleague for thirty years; we first met in 1971 when we were newly minted Ph.Ds working to define our scholarly directions as students of the Polish experience. Over the years one could not help but be impressed by Stan’s extraordinary dedication to the Polish American Historical Association—in his long, continuing, generous, and very able service as an officer, as president on two occasions, as a very regular contributor to our journal, Polish American Studies, as a frequent participant in our annual meetings, and in a variety of other significant ways.

There will be opportunities in the future for the members of our Association to recognize Stan’s many good deeds. I know that his many friends and admirers, both in America and abroad, will do so eagerly and out of their respect for his work and accomplishments.

At this time, I ask all our members to rededicate themselves to our PAHA’s scholarly mission. Let us all do our part by participating actively in whatever appropriate way we can to help advance the PAHA as an association that is professional in the very best meaning of this word. By working together, supporting the activities of our association, and informing others, particularly our scholarly colleagues outside Polish American studies, about the quality of our organizations and its members’ research, we will be honoring the memory of Professor Blejwas in the manner he would have most appreciated.

Let me close by thanking my fellow officers, especially PAHA president and current Council members Dr. M.B. Biskupski and Dr. Karen Majewski, our Executive Secretary, for their yeoman work in informing our members of Dr. Blejwas’ passing and to do all the proper things to honor him at the funeral proceedings of September 27-29. Let me also thank our members, officers, and past presidents, for their attendance and eulogies at the wake and funeral mass, and for their sympathy letters and cards to his family.

A new exhibit chronicling the Polish experience and influence on Detroit opened October 12 at the Detroit Historical Museum. Special lectures and events and an exhibit book will complement the display of photos, art, and artifacts.

As the event shows, Poles were not a separate ethnic community, but had a distinct influence on other ethnic and racial groups. The reaction of city elites to the arrival of so many Polish immigrants set a precedent for how other newcomers would be treated in Detroit.

Poles were the single largest immigrant group who came to Detroit during the greatest period of its growth. They created neighborhoods from what had been farmland. They transplanted values, customs, and institutions from their old lives, but also created a new Polish American culture. The history of every group in the Detroit area is marked by the fact that for four, five, and six generations, they have shared city and neighborhood with Poles.

The Polish Presence in Detroit is sponsored by the Detroit 300 Committee, a foundation formed to honor the 300th anniversary of Detroit’s founding; by St. Mary’s College of Ave Maria University; and by the Polish American Historical Association, with the additional sponsorship of individual donors and the generous support of the Polish American Congress, Michigan Division. Among individual PAHA members who assisted the project financially were Frank and Mary Padzieski, Thaddeus and Kathleen Radzilowski, and Edward and Wanda Czapor. The exhibit was organized by Dr. Karen Majewski in cooperation with Jill Grannan of the Detroit Historical Museum. (The Director of the Detroit Historical Museum is new PAHA member Dr. Dennis Zembala.) Of enormous assistance were members of Detroit Polonia, including PAHA members Don Samull; Michael Krolewski; Anna Chrypinska; the Felician Sisters Provincialate of Livonia, Michigan; Msgr. Dr. Roman Nir of the Central Archives of Polonia; Wallace Ozog on behalf of the Polish Roman Catholic Union of America; and the Alumni Memorial Library of St. Mary’s College. The Honorary Committee included PAHA members Msgr. Stanislaw Milewski, Dr. Dennis Zembala, Edward Czapor, Wallace Ozog, and Prof. Andrzej Kapiszewski. Other PAHA members who were involved in some aspect of the project were Don Horkey and Vasil Jurkovski. Finally, the Executive Committee consisted of Dr. Thomas Gladsky, Dr. Karen Majewski, Dr. Thaddeus Radzilowski, and Virginia Skrzyniarz.

In addition to the exhibit, the following lectures are scheduled at the Museum:

- Oct. 21, Dr. Thad Radzilowski, “At Home in America: Immigrants and Their Children”
- Nov. 4, Dr. Paul Wrobel, “Poles, Other Ethnicities, and African Americans”
- Nov. 11, Dr. Thad Radzilowski and Dr. Paul Wrobel, “Solidarity Forever: Poles and the Labor Movement” and “Poles and World War II”
- Nov. 18, Dr. Karen Majewski, “Detroit in the Consciousness of Polish Americans”

The exhibit will remain at the Detroit Historical Museum through March 31, 2002, after which it is available to travel. To arrange for this exhibit to visit your community or institution, or for a copy of the exhibit poster or the accompanying 40-page illustrated booklet, authored by Thaddeus Radzilowski, please contact Virginia Skrzyniarz, St. Mary’s College Director of Development, 248-706-5355.

The Department of History of Central Connecticut State University invites applications from and nominations of historians for the Endowed Chair in Polish and Polish American Studies. Interviews will be conducted at the American Historical Assn. Meeting in January, 2002 in San Francisco. A search committee is being formed and advertisements for the position will appear on H-Net and in the Chronicle of Higher Education, among other places.

In keeping with the standards established by the late Stanislaus Blejwas, applicants must have a distinguished record of scholarly achievement, teaching excellence, community outreach, and significant published research. Although area and time period of specialization are open, applicants must be well grounded as scholars and teachers in both Polish and Polish American history. The department has a preference for scholars with interest and research experience in public history and historical memory. Applicants must be associate or full professors with tenure. Appointment will be commensurate with rank and experience. Ph.D. in History and fluency in Polish required.
Dr. Stanislaus A. Blejwas, Central Connecticut State University Professor of History and holder of the Endowed Chair in Polish and Polish American Studies, and President of the Polish American Historical Association, died on Sunday, September 23, 2001, at age 59. He was often sought by researchers and the media for his expert commentary on Solidarity and East European politics, Polish perspectives on the Holocaust, and on Polish ethnic and religious issues.

Fluent in Polish, Blejwas made numerous visits to Poland over more than 35 years, and he personally observed Polish society’s shift from communism to democracy and a free-market economy. In 1991 he was awarded the Polish American Historical Association’s Haiman Medal for “sustained contribution to the scholarly study of the Polish experience in America.” In 1996, his dream of establishing an endowed chair in Polish American studies was realized. Professor Blejwas was the first holder of that chair. In 1995, then Polish President Aleksander Kwaśniewski awarded Blejwas the Officer’s Cross of the Order of Merit of the Republic of Poland for his contributions to the Polish American community and for developing CCSU’s Polish Studies Program.

Stanislaus Blejwas was widely published in scholarly journals. The author of several monographs and many pointed editorials, he was also a frequent lecturer on Polish and Polish American history. He was Co-Chair of the National Polish American-Jewish American Council, and was twice appointed by President Clinton to the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Council in Washington, D.C.

Born to Polish immigrant parents on October 5, 1941 in New York City, Blejwas received his bachelor’s degree in history summa cum laude from Providence College. Following graduate study at the University of Warsaw, he enrolled at Columbia University, where he earned a master’s degree in history in 1966 and a doctorate in modern East European and Polish history in 1973. He was Assistant Director of Columbia University’s Institute on East Central Europe before coming to CCSU in 1974.

Professor Blejwas is survived by his wife, Lucy, and their children, Andrzej and Carol.

Teaching responsibilities are two courses per semester on aspects of Polish and Polish American history. The Endowed Chair also serves as coordinator of the Polish Studies program and is responsible for administering events such as the Fiedorczyk Lecture in Polish American Studies, Milewski Lecture in Polish Studies, Koproski Lecture in Polish Economy and Business, Rudewicz Polish Music Series, and the biennial Godlewski Evening of Polish Culture.

Campus resources include the Connecticut Polish American Archives and the Polish Heritage Collection of over 17,000 books and periodicals. The recipient of the Endowed Chair will promote these established programs, develop new programs along the lines of his or her own interests, and raise funds to enhance the endowment. The Endowed Chair in Polish and Polish American Studies serves as a vital link between the University and residents in the area of New Britain and Greater Hartford.

The University enrolls 12,000 undergraduate and graduate students. In addition to both B.A. and B.S. degrees, the Department of History awards an M.A. in History, and an M.S. in Social Studies. An M.A. in Public History is pending approval.

TO FRIENDS OF THE PILSUDSKI INSTITUTE
From Jacek M. Galazka President

60TH ANNIVERSARY FUND (1943-2003)
There are important reasons why you, your family and friends should consider joining and supporting the Pilsudski Institute:

- Outside of Poland its archives and library are second only to the Hoover Institution in California in size and depth of coverage of contemporary Polish history;
- Its collection of over 200 Polish paintings and objects of Art is a significant cultural resource for the understanding and promotion of Polish cultural heritage;
- Its activities in sponsoring scholarly conferences, lectures, and exhibits on Poland and Central Europe, and publishing related materials in Niepodleglosca (Independence), are a significant contribution to historical research.
- The Pilsudski Institute is an independent, non-political, educational institution, beholden to none, supported by the generosity of its members whose dues, donations and testamentary bequests are the sole source of support.

In preparation for our 60th anniversary in 2003, the Institute has now embarked on a major fund-raising campaign to reorganize its archives and to bring it in line with modern requirements for safety and access.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Global Review of Ethnopolitics

To be launched in September 2001, this new authoritative peer-reviewed online journal will provide a forum for serious debate and exchange on one of the phenomena that had a decisive impact during the last decades of the 20th century and will continue to be of great importance in the new millennium. The journal will give a voice to established as well as younger researchers and analysts from both academic and practitioner backgrounds. It will publish original work of the highest quality in the field of ethnopolitics with methodological approaches covering mainly the disciples of political science and international relations and taking primarily a contemporary, current affairs perspective. The major focus will be on the analysis, management, settlement, and prevention of ethnic conflicts, on minority rights, group identity, the intersection of identity group formations and politics, on minority and majority nationalisms in the context of democratization, and on the security and stability of states and regions as they are affected by any of the above issues. Particular attention will be devoted to the growing importance of international influences on ethnopolitics, including external diplomatic or military intervention, as well as the increasing impact of globalization on ethnic identities and their political expressions. NEW POLISH HERITAGE CENTER IN ST. LOUIS

Ground was broken on January 21 for a Polish Heritage Center behind St. Louis’ St. Stanislaus Kostka Church, at 1413 N. 20th St. The one-story brick building is expected to cost approximately $1.8 million and cover 12,000 square feet. Msgr. Ted Wojcicki, pastor of St. Stanislaus, has indicated that the main idea for this center is to preserve Polish heritage and serve the parish family and community.

IHRC RECEIVES GRANT

The University of Minnesota has been awarded a $500,000 Challenge Grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities in support of the Immigration History Research Center. Funds from the grant will be used to enhance the work of the IHRC, regarded by many as the leading institution for the preservation and promotion of the history of American immigration. The NEH Challenge Grant is a centerpiece of the IHRC's endowment campaign, "Stories Worth Remembering, Stories Worth Telling." The campaign seeks to provide permanent funding in four areas: 1) endowment of the Rudolph J. Vecoli Chair in Immigration History; 2) care and development of the archival collections; 3) research support; and 4) community outreach (including work with ethnic organizations and K-12 educators). As a result of the challenge grant, contributions to the IHRC's campaign for the next three years will be matched by federal dollars on a 4:1 basis (i.e., for every four dollars of private donations, the University will receive an additional $1 of matching money). The IHRC was founded in 1965 in response to keen interest in the role of immigration in the making of America. Today the IHRC maintains a vast and diverse archive of documentation on various immigrant groups throughout the U.S. Included are diaries, memoirs, photographs, "America" letters, newspapers, pamphlets, organizational records, oral histories, and much more. The center also produces a wide array of programs and publications aimed at fostering greater understanding of the immigrant experience. POLISH NATIONAL ALLIANCE SUPPORTS UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

The University of Pittsburgh has received a $10,000 donation from the Polish National Alliance to help catalog, preserve, and make accessible a collection of rare Polish books, magazines, and sound recordings. The collection was housed at Alliance College in Cambridge Springs, Pennsylvania, but was entrusted to the University of Pittsburgh Library System after Alliance closed in the 1980s. Since the collection has been housed at Hillman Library at U-Pitt, the PNA has donated $65,000 to support it. U-Pitt has cataloged 14,500 titles from the collection, including 295 music scores, 111 sound recordings, and many rare books, magazines, and journals, some unique to North America. The collection reflects what Polish people were reading in the late 19th and early 20th centuries—ranging from treasured volumes of poetry to books on what words one had to learn to become an American citizen.

SCHOLARS IN RESIDENCE PROGRAM

The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission invites applications for its 2002-2003 Scholars in Residence Program. The program provides support for full-time research and study in the manuscript and artifact collections maintained by any Commission facility, including the Pennsylvania State Archives, the State Museum of Pennsylvania, and 26 historic sites and museums around the state. Residency programs are open to all who are conducting research on Pennsylvania history, including academic scholars, public sector history professionals, independent scholars, graduate students, educators, writers, filmmakers, and others. Residencies are available for four to twelve weeks between May 1, 2002, and April 30, 2003, at the rate of $1,500 per month. Deadline for application is January 11, 2002. Complete information and applications available at www.phmc.state.pa.us/bah/doh/sin.asp. Email: lshopes@state.pa.us

THE SARMATIAN REVIEW

An academic tri-quarterly conceived by a group of American Polish scholars concerned about a dearth of Polish academic publications. Its goal is to help develop a scholarly discourse on Poland and Central Europe in the United States. The journal specializes in publishing documentary materials in English translation. Its electronic version, Sarmatian Review Online, is distributed by Rice University (www.ruf.rice.edu/~sarmatia). Our website has been recognized as one of the best by Central Europe Online (the oldest web directory), Twirlinx (a German web directory), and many more. Our contents are a creative mix of annotated data, scholarly articles, literary texts, and more. The Review is over twenty years old. Libraries from Harvard to Stanford subscribe to it. Shouldn't you?

Subscription price in 2001: $15/year for individuals, $21/year for libraries. Overseas: $21 individuals, $27 libraries (air mail).

TOM PODL COLLECTION

The Polish art collected by PAHA member Tom Podl of Seattle was the subject of a major exhibit at the National Museum in Krakow. “Kolory tożsamości: Sztuka polska z amerykańskiej kolekcji Toma Podla” ran from April 28–August 5, and included many works of early twentieth-century “Polish Parisians” which were shown in Poland for the first time. Among the 52 internationally known artists represented in this acclaimed exhibit were Anna Bilińska-Bohdanowicz, Józef Chełmoński, Julian Falat, Józef Mehoffer, Jacek Małczewski, Mela Muter, Józef Pańkiewicz, Stanisław Szukalski, Eugeniusz Zak, and Franciszek Żmukro.

POLISH MUSIC SUPPORTED AT USC

Recently the television game show Jeopardy included the question, “Which North American university has the only Polish Music Center in North America?” The answer, of course, is the University of Southern California, where the Polish Music Center was officially dedicated in 1985 as part of the USC School of Music, with an initial endowment from (PAHA members) Dr. Stefan and Wanda Wilk. The purpose of the Center is to assemble the most comprehensive collection of books, music scores, sound recordings and other material pertaining to music of Polish origin, making this repository the ultimate research resource on Polish music available to scholars, students, and music lovers. Wanda Wilk was the first Director, followed by Dr. Maria Anna Harley (also a PAHA member). The PMC and the USC School of Music also sponsor the annual Wilk Prizes for Research in Polish Music, and the Polish Music History Series of publications. A supporter of the PMC is The Friends of Polish Music, organized in at USC in 1981 under the auspices of the School of Music. Its objective is to correct the past neglect of Poland’s contribution to the commonwealth of western music and to make the music of Polish origin an integral part of the mosaic of the musical culture of America. JOSEPH CONRAD FOUNDATION

The Joseph Conrad Foundation is devoted to the study of the English novelist who “wrote Polish in English.” The JCF was represented at the International Conference of Conrad Scholars sponsored by the Joseph Conrad Society-U.S. at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, 9-12 August 2000. The JCF hopes to establish a national editor for each of the world’s 180 countries in which the life and work of the Polish-born English novelist Joseph Conrad, born Józef Teodor Konrad Nałęcz Korzeniowski, is read, taught, and studied. Currently there are national editors for France, Turkey, India, Australia, Chile, Japan, Israel, New Zealand, Poland, Russia, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

Included on the JCF’s website is the Foundation’s online journal, Conrad Concepts, which offers articles, bibliography, book reviews, dissertations and theses from here and abroad, as well as news, notes and queries, poetry, conference reports, links to other Conrad websites, a collector’s corner, details of Conrad’s voyages, a gallery of scholars past, and a Conradian Hall of Fame. Finally, the JCF offers a link to its Annex, a collection of raw material being worked on for inclusion in Conrad Concepts.
